- d. Withdrawal from the programme before all payments have been made does not exempt the student from instalments that were due under the payment schedule and in line with the fee liability.
- e. Withdrawal from the programme will only be actioned after written confirmation of withdrawal is received. The date of withdrawal will be confirmed at the time of acknowledgement of withdrawal and this is the date which will apply for the purposes of calculating fee liability.
- f. Where a student's registration on the programme is lapsed, for example due to non-submission, non-attendance, fee liability will be calculated from the last point at which the student would have been engaged with their cohort, irrespective of whether the student participated in that activity.

- a. There is no charge for a student to defer their studies.
- b. During deferral, although instalments will not be payable, the liability for fees remains with the student.

- d. The programme fee due will remain that of the original registered cohort regardless of the student re-joining the programme with another cohort.
- e. Any outstanding invoices due up to the date of deferral will remain payable in line with the original payment schedule.

 - ii. The student being unable to attend Intro/Study Day Sessions, receive assessment results or final award
 - iii. Cancellation of instalment plan
- b. The AUA reserves the right to cancel instalment arrangements at any time, and require the payment of outstanding fees in full within 30 days of the notice of cancellation.
